

THERMAL TRANSFER OF LIGHT-EMITTING DENDRIMERS

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 A method of making an organic electroluminescent device by thermally transferring a transfer portion of a donor element to a receptor, the transfer portion comprising at least one layer consisting of one or more light-emitting dendrimers.